

About Senator Joe Kyrillos

Former State Senator Joe Kyrillos concluded a 30-year career in the New Jersey Legislature in 2018. After two terms in the General Assembly, he was elected to the State Senate in 1992.

During a visible and productive career representing Monmouth and Middlesex counties, Kyrillos emerged as a statewide leader in job creation, economic growth, shore protection, and good government.

He started the consulting firm SK Partners, works with investment advisory firm Newport Capital Group, Red Bank, and is affiliated with Newmark, a global real estate company.

Kyrillos serves on the boards of Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey and MIAX Emerald, chairs the advisory board of OceanFirst Bank, and serves on local non-profit boards.

A former chairman of the New Jersey Republican State Committee, Kyrillos chaired Governor Christie's 2009 campaign, two presidential campaigns, and was the 2012 Republican nominee for U.S. Senate. Monmouth County dedicated the West Front Street bridge connecting Middletown to Red Bank in his honor.

He and his wife Susan live in Middletown, NJ, and have two adult children.
